2016-2017 Confirmation Retreats

Pastors and congregations have begun to think of their annual Confirmation Retreat as a highlight of the year for their education program. Lutheran Island Camp provides meals, lodging, devotions, and some great activities while providing the pastor with plenty of instruction time.

Some pastors use this weekend event to focus on a particular topic or to help their students focus on materials that need to be covered before confirmation.

A retreat allows youth to get to know other young people from around the district at the same time that they can get to know their pastor and other youth from their parish.

A campfire is often one of the high-lights for participants.

The Island provides excellent meals, good accommodations, and some great activities that may include broom ball, volleyball, cross country skiing, and other activities depending on weather and availability. Our full weekend events will include a trip to the Thumper Pond Water Park if available.

How to make the most of your retreat.

Our retreats are designed for individual congregations or for circuits. Often an entire circuit will decide to do a joint retreat with pastors and students from all or most of the congregations in a circuit. Pastors may then specialize in particular topics that can be presented to all of the students. This type of circuit retreat provides young people with the opportunity to get to know youth from other congregations they may get to know through ACT in future years.

When you've decided when you want to have your retreat, give us a call. We'll visit with you about your goals and any special activities you might want. We encourage you to bring along an adequate number of adult chaperones as the camp does not provide in-house supervision. A ratio of 1 adult for each 10 students is helpful, but not necessary. We have room for up to 70 participants each weekend and some weekends we can also make use of our Retreat House and Martha Cabin.

It is a good idea to schedule your retreat as soon as possible to assure you the best selec-
