Greetings in Christ!

Weather forecasts sound like Winter is holding on with a Winter Storm Watch issued with up to 2 foot of snow and blizzard conditions for parts of the state. WOW! God keep you all safe.

Our Classic Camp continues to lead all other camps with registrations for this summer. There is still plenty of room in all of our camps but some of the specialty camps do start to fill up in April.

...“We loved the weekend – we were blessed in so many ways and got a lot out of it.” Those were just a couple of comments that came from our Women’s Retreat this past weekend. We were very blessed with a nice group

This week (Monday and Tuesday) Ted Kober (Ambassadors of Reconciliation) is leading the camp staff through a staff development program.

Thrivent Choice dollars arriving this past week totaled over $6400. Thank you and thank Thrivent for their tremendous support of

This past week we also received word that several Thrivent Action Team grants are headed our way. We’ll be receiving a couple of picnic tables, we had a small group meeting supported, and there is help coming to support training.

Check our website for fact sheet.

Question and Answer:

Question: I saw that there was space in a camp on your website for my daughter but the event didn't show up when I tried to register.

Answer: Most likely your child is a month or two too young to register. Our system will only show the events that your child is age eligible for. There are some options and things we can do to help you get her registered. We believe parents know their children best so we will work with you to get your child into the event you think is appropriate.
